HIKES IN STRANGE COUNTRY

With American Outposts in Mexico to Columbus, N. M., April 1 (by aeroplane).—Cavalry marches surpassing all known previous performances of mounted troops in Mexico have been made in the pursuit of Francisco Villa by some of the flying columns sent out to cut off the avenues of escape of the Mexican bandit. The diary of a cavalry officer, obtained to-day, gives a romantic sketch of one such march. Names and dates cannot be published. The first entry shows the abandon with which the Americans threw themselves into the chase. It says:

"We arrived with practically nothing to eat and no grain for the horses."

How food was obtained in comparative plenty, for men and horses, is also a military secret. However some of the minor sidelights were furnished by this officer's record.

"The night of March —," said the diary, "we hiked all night, making fifty miles, including a fifteen-mile climb to an altitude of 10,000 feet over a terrific mountain trail. We made camp at 8 a. m. and in the evening started over mountain trails 8,000 feet high. In a march of 110 miles from our base we slept three hours. All the mountain trails were very bad."

"No sign yet of Villa, and no sign of beef. We saw one cow. Troops got two deer. They kept the deer and did not loan a bite to any one else. Hogs!"

"Some of the men obtained rhubarb, with which they made a very good stew. We also got some ducks."

"I hiked twenty miles, and I am worried about him. Later, — has returned safely. He located wire and supplies for us. We were to take five days' rations for men and horses, but in order to make the time we wanted, we took only two days. Spent two days in high altitude in rain. The weather is otherwise fine. We have been among pines nearly all of the time, with canyons and massive, rocky or brilliant semi-metallic peaks, all about us. The scenery is most wonderful, much like Yellowstone, I imagine."

"Probably Villa could hide here indefinitely but he would starve."

"Later, march resumed, making thirty miles to a point where we obtained beef and one mess of beans."

The remainder of the diary, to date, cited two further advances, and then the trip of a four-man patrol, led by this officer, across a range of mountains to receive orders from one of the main line communications. The diary recorded no incidents of the side trips as worthy of mention, although when the patrol arrived in the large communication camp, its speed and daring was commended. To-day the same small patrol mounted its horses and gave the big camp a laughing farewell, starting a long, hard, lonesome ride to overtake the flying column to which the couriers belonged.

Scouting on foot, done by some of the aviators, along with topographical work, was brought to light to-day in one of the field camps. One aviator's experiences began with his landing after dark near the scene of a mountain side grass spot. He said:

"About sundown, wishing to see some of the aeroplanes, which had been flying below me, and which had disappeared against the dark black ground of the earth, I glided to a level where I expected to see the other planes against the lines of the horizon. However, the other planes also glided at the same time, so that I did not see them. Soon after dark, while looking for a signal bonfire, I saw what seemed to be a beautiful fire and descended to investigate."

"Observation was not easy at the time because the plane was bucking a head wind at an altitude of 5,000 feet. As I descended, the fire revealed itself into several small fires, spreading out in a large circle. When I was almost over the fire it resembled the view when looking from above directly down into a lake, with piers running to the water. The piers, I presume, were the tongues of unburned grass, running in toward the center of the burned area. It seemed exactly like a lake of oil, with the edges on fire. I dropped low enough to dispel the illusion and see that it was a grass fire. After about twenty-five minutes' further flying I located what seemed to be a uniform slope on a mountain side. It was not a slope, but this was not discernible until the landing wheels of the plane struck the ground, when I discovered that instead of striking a field, I had hit a spur on the mountain side."

One of the disquieting experiences of night work in Northern Mexico, especially when secrecy is desired, is the abundance of game, especially winged variety, including quail, which is repeatedly "flushed" out of cover at the expense of considerable racket. On most of the mesas it is so cold at night that not more than an hour's consecutive sleep is possible. There also is danger of drinking alkaline instead of pure water with subsequent great physical exhaustion.

GREEN RIVER DISTRICT UNION OF A. S. OF E.

Should Attend.

Headquarters Green River District Union A. S. of E., Calhoun, Ky., March 29th.

Green River District Union A. S. of E. will meet in regular quarterly convention at the court house in Owensboro, Ky., on Thursday, April 6, at nine o'clock a. m., and continue in session till all business is transacted that should come before this session.

This will be an important meeting, and we insist that all who are interested in the details and plans for handling the 1916 crop of tobacco be present and hear the plans and help us to further the best interests of all tobacco growers, for our plans will certainly bring satisfactory results if accepted and put into operation.

We also have other important matters that will come up for consideration, and one of these will be the establishing of a grain elevator to be located in the City of Owensboro, and other equally important matters will come before the convention for consideration. Real co-operation is working wonders and now is the time for all farmers of this section of Kentucky to take advantage of the great advantages that have been brought within their reach. So come to this meeting whether you are a member of Equity or not and we will reason together, and our plans will succeed for the betterment of all tillers of the soil.

WOUNDS CAUSED VILLA TO LOSE LEG, IS REPORT

Queretaro, April 1.—Villa has lost a leg, according to a dispatch received by the War Department from the municipal President of the town of Temosachic, Chihuahua, who reports that Villa was so badly wounded in the surprise attack recently made on the Constitutional garrison at Guerrero that amputation of the limb was necessary.

MINER WAS KILLED IN A THREE-HANDED FIGHT

Whitesburg, Ky., April 1.—J. Henry Hall, 30 years old, superintendent of the Elkhorn Coal Company, at Kona Station, in this county, is dangerously wounded, and Sam Marcum, 28 years old, a well driller, of Harlan county, is dead, as the result of a hand-to-hand battle in the commissary of the coal company at 6 o'clock last night.

Marcum, it is charged, ran on Ed L. Williams, clerk in the store, in a dispute regarding the purchase of a pair of shoes, placing his revolver, witnesses said, at Williams' breast. In the struggle that followed Superintendent Hall, who ran between the participants as peacemaker, was shot by Marcum, it is believed. After Marcum had been shot, he ran to his home in the mining town and dropped dead.

Hall will be taken to a Lexington hospital on the morning train. He is one of the best known coal operators in Eastern Kentucky. Williams gave up to officers.

WOMEN FAINT TRYING TO SEE NEW STYLES

Lexington, Ky., March 31.—A dozen women fainted to-night from the heat and the pressure of the crowd which pressed into the Shelburne Warehouse, where the automobile and style show is being held, to see the exhibit of the new spring fashions, which were displayed by living models upon the stage.

The style show, which is only given in the evening, has entirely overshadowed the motor cars as a drawing card until to-night the attendance became a dangerous jam, although there was no disorder.

The automobiles, which had been moved back, were in no danger of being damaged from people standing upon them to see the style display, as had been the case the first night.

MINERS STANDING PAT BY REFERENDUM VOTE

Central City, Ky., March 31.—The miners of Western Kentucky are taking a referendum vote this week on the demands made by their scale committee in the recent Louisville conference, and the returns thus far reported are almost unanimously for standing by the original proposition. President Pollock, of District 23, says that he does not expect a dozen votes against the demands among the 6,000 men in the Western Kentucky fields. One local reported voted 201 to 0 for insisting on the wage increase.

The miners are demanding an increase amounting to $50,000 a year, while the operators want a reduction of $320,000. Both sides claim they will stand pat. The joint conference will reconvene in Louisville April 4.

SENATE ORDERS INQUIRY INTO GASOLINE PRICES

Washington, April 1.—The Senate ordered the Attorney General to-day to inquire into the reasons for the high price of gasoline. It adopted, by unanimous vote, Senator Martine's resolution calling for a thorough investigation of the subject.

But, after some debate, the Senate put over until to-morrow a preamble in the resolution which charges the Standard Oil Company with having a monopoly on the gasoline industry and with being a trust.

Mr. Stone said other oil companies should be included in the inquiry. He declared none of the independents had come to the aid of the public when the price of gasoline started soaring.

Americans Assisting Villa.

Washington, April 3.—Department of Justice agents, following a trail which is said to lead to American sources of supply for Francisco Villa, have uncovered evidence in New York and other cities which they believe will justify the charge.

The allegation, often made, that Villa has received aid from German sources also is being investigated, but no indication has been given as to whether any evidence has been found.

The department is disinclined to act on its evidence that American money and supplies have gone to Villa while it is in the stage that will involve only subordinates. It intends to pursue the trail, if possible, to the men higher up.

Brightness Of Venus.

Although Venus in its present position is over 50,000,000 miles from the earth the attention of hundreds of people are attracted almost every evening by the unusual brilliancy of the planet.

Unusually clear weather conditions make the star very attractive. The periodical approach of Venus toward the earth revives interest in the hypothesis that it is inhabited. Venus is about the same size as the earth and has climates and atmosphere similar to this planet.

The most distant point of its orbit is 150,000,000 miles from the earth, and the nearest point is within 28,000,000 miles of our planet.

STILL IN PURSUIT OF BANDIT VILLA

Relentless Search By Uncle Sam's Soldiers.

AMERICAN CAVALRYMEN PUSH

Forward In Vigorous Man-Hunt
—Now Getting Bandit In Close Quarters.

A VERY MYSTERIOUS ESCAPE

Queretaro, April 2.—Villa has lost a leg, according to a dispatch received by the War Department from the Municipal President of the town of Temosachic, Chihuahua, who reports that Villa was so badly wounded in the surprise attack recently made on the constitutional garrison at Guerrero that amputation of the limb was necessary.

The War Department also has received a report of the engagement between the United States Cavalry and the Villa bandits at San Geronimo. The official report confirms previous advices that the bandits lost thirty killed and that the American losses were negligible.

Gen. Pablo Iuriga, Military Commander of the State of Jalisco, reports a battle between bandits and Constitutional forces under Col. Salvador Ortiz, at El Grillo and Las Canoas. The bandits were defeated, leaving seventeen dead on the field, among them being their leader, a notorious outlaw known under the nickname of "Bolas Neal."

Trail In Snow Storm.

San Antonio, Tex., April 2.—Villa's loss in dead at the battle with Americans at Guerrero Wednesday was placed at sixty by Gen. Pershing to-day in report to Gen. Funston.

The bodies were found in houses in Guerrero and scattered in the underbrush for miles along the routes taken by the fleeing Mexicans. Villa himself was believed to be northeast of Guerrero, but Gen. Pershing expressed the opinion that there was little chance of his escape.

Detachments from four regiments of cavalry had been disposed in such manner that the district where he had been reported was practically surrounded and every point of escape carefully guarded, according to the report.

Gen. Pershing's report was dated "March 31-April 1" causing army officers to believe it was written yesterday, but not filed until to-day.

Additional details of the fighting about Guerrero were not given by Gen. Pershing, but he said yesterday that a snowstorm sweeping over the San Geronimo ranch, a region of high elevation, had made the operations of the troops more difficult and exceedingly uncomfortable for the soldiers.

Mysterious Disappearance.

Camp of Commanding General, at the Extreme Front, April 2. (By aeroplane to field headquarters and by wireless to Columbus, N. M.)—Every since they defeated the Villa commander at San Geronimo ranch with heavy losses last Wednesday, the American cavalrymen have searched ceaselessly for the bandit leader, but up to late to-day no definite information concerning his whereabouts had reached this camp.

Villa has disappeared in a way which, considering the relentlessness of the American pursuit, seems mysterious. The American troops have not encountered any natives who will even admit they have seen Villa.

Troops Press Forward.

Columbus, N. M., April 1.—Riding mercilessly, 400 American troopers under Col. George A. Dodd are making desperate efforts to capture or wipe out the survivors of Francisco Villa's largest command, which they defeated at San Geronimo ranch several days ago, according to meager reports seeping across the border to-day.

Other information received indicated, however, that there is still much doubt at the American field headquarters as to whether the bandit chieftain was with his forces during the engagement. One report, given much credence, was that Villa sustained the wounds which broke his leg and shattered his hip bone in the attack made on the Carranza garrison at the town of Guerrero, March 27, and that the leader was carried away by a few chosen followers in a jolting wagon to a secret hiding place in the wilderness around Guerrero.

Although the pursuit by the Americans is a new experience for Villa, one he has never met in all his years of guerrilla warfare, army men here are not inclined to minimize the task before Col. Dodd. The Guerrero district in which Villa, with a price on his head, was able for eight years to escape capture by Porfirio Diaz's rurales, abounding as it does in caves, canyons and almost impassable mountain trails, all screened from the eyes of air scouts by heavy growths of mountain pines, is admittedly one of the most isolated regions in Mexico and the one in which the bandit has the largest number of friends.

Villa Has Escaped.

San Antonio, Tex., April 3.—The fear expressed yesterday at army headquarters that Francisco Villa had escaped from the region in which Gen. Pershing's cavalry columns are operating, became a conviction to-night.

Gen. Pershing's report, received after noon, contained the news that at least a part of the dispersed Villa force that was driven from Guerrero March 29 still was moving in the district northeast of that place, but no mention of Villa's whereabouts was made.

Youths Would Chase Villa.

Winchester, Ky., April 1.—Six mountain youths, declaring themselves anxious to join the Mexican expedition in search of Villa, arrived in Winchester yesterday morning and were sent to Lexington to the nearest recruiting station. They are all crack shots of the mountains, and expressed themselves as anxious to join the sharpshooters. Their names are Luther Turner, Cleve Dale, Dan Muse, Robert Giltner, Walter Brewer and Roy Adkins.

FIELDS OF WHEAT ARE RUINED BY BACKWATER

Hawesville, Ky., April 1.—The river is still rising here and already it has gotten into some of the lots in the lower part of town and the backwater has covered many fields of wheat above and below town. The remarkable part of this is that this is the fifth time since January 1 that many acres of wheat have been submerged. Several large fields have been utterly ruined and they will be plowed up and planted to corn. This is also the fifth time this year that the high water has shut off travel from the Tell City landing to Petrie, where the fast trains stop and take on and put off mail and passengers. This traffic is now all by way of Cannelton and Hawesville.

FORMER KENTUCKY WOMAN ASKS $25,000 DAMAGES

Paducah, Ky., March 29.—A suit has been filed in the United States Court here by Mrs. Annie O. Rickman, of Brookport, Ill., formerly of Benton, Ky., against 16 residents of Benton, Ky., for $25,000 damages, as a result of the alleged dynamiting of the Rickman home at Benton September 17, 1915.

She charges the defendants drove her and her husband, James M. Rickman, from Benton and the State, threatening them with violence. Her home, she alleges, was ruined by the explosion.

The defendants are L. Robertson, Sut Ferguson, Ira Morgan, R. W. Vaughn, P. B. Sun, Leroy Griffith, Boy Ford, Harry Jones, Eliza Black, Dr. B. A. Washburn, Dr. J. J. Gough, Hardin Griffith, Elsie Potts, Jack Dikes, Gillard Johnson and W. C. Rowe, all of Marshall county, Kentucky.

SHELVES WOMEN'S VOTE AND PROHIBITION ALSO

Washington, April 1.—The House Judiciary Committee decided by a vote of 10 to 9 that there should be no vote in the House on either the Woman Suffrage or the Prohibition Constitutional Amendment this session. The two propositions were linked.

Democratic leaders urged the Judiciary Committee to postpone a vote in the House on the proposed constitutional amendments until December, as the time of the House will be taken up with the Administration program, which does not include either the Woman Suffrage or the Prohibition resolution.

Kentuckians Are Digging.

Irvine, Ky., April 1.—As the result of the finding of an old book, long hidden, in which it was stated that gold would be found on Happy Top, a high ridge in this county, Simpson Cox and a number of his neighbors have been digging energetically in an effort to locate the vein.

Cox found the book in his home. It has been in his family for several generations, and it is claimed, was originally obtained from an Indian Chief whose tribe mined gold in this section.

$400,000 Bond Issue Carries.

Morganfield, Ky., April 1.—Interest was at fever heat all over Union county to-day over the vote on issuing bonds for $400,000 for county road building. A much larger vote was polled than in the race for Governor, and both sides were active in getting voters to the polls, giving free auto rides. The bond issue carried by a majority of 200 or 300.

Elihu Root, Theodore Roosevelt, Henry C. Lodge, Robert Bacon and Leonard Wood met at luncheon Friday in New York. It was the first time Roosevelt and Root had met in five years.

MISS MONROE IS HELD TO ANSWER

To Grand Jury For Alleged Murder

OF MISS GREGORY AT SOLWAY

Bail Fixed at $5,000—Circumstantial Evidence Only Kind Yet Adduced.

THREAT MADE, SAYS A WITNESS

Elizabethtown, Ky., March 29.—Miss Ella Monroe, charged with the murder of Miss Eva Gregory near Solway Tuesday of last week, was held to the Hardin county grand jury under $5,000 bail at the conclusion of the examining trial before County Judge Rider. Will Roy Dupin, held under a charge of being an accomplice, was dismissed on motion of the Commonwealth. The hearing had occupied two days and was concluded at a night session of the court.

After Judge Rider had fixed the bail at $5,000, in default of which Miss Monroe was remanded to jail, her attorneys filed a writ of habeas corpus, setting forth in their petition that the bail fixed by the County Judge was prohibitory. Hearing on the writ, which will be argued before Circuit Judge J. R. Layman, has been set for to-morrow.

At the conclusion of the Commonwealth testimony attorneys for the defense pressed vigorously their motion to dismiss Miss Monroe because of lack of evidence. Judge Rider overruled this motion and Miss Monroe's lawyers stated that no testimony would be introduced in her behalf.

The crowd at to-day's session was larger than that of yesterday and was nearly half composed of women. Miss Monroe maintained her composure throughout the hearing, but apparently never lost interest in the proceedings.

Mrs. Mattie Finch and Mrs. Mollie Finch, sisters-in-law, who reside at the same house, testified that on the afternoon of the tragedy they saw a woman crossing the fields in the direction of the scene of the killing. They swore that the woman was of small stature, wore a long black coat, and passed their house at 3:30 o'clock. They said they lived a mile distant from the scene of the killing. The shooting occurred shortly before 4 o'clock.

Ernest Cundiff, the next witness, related that he went with Ella Monroe to church about three weeks ago and that the accused girl told him that Eva Gregory might be sorry for some of the things she is doing.

Lila Spencer swore that two weeks ago she was at Ella Monroe's house and that Ella said she had received a letter from Clarence Quiggins, in which he told her that somebody had told something on her. Ella declared, according to the witness, that when she found out who it was, it wouldn't be good for that person. This witness' testimony was corroborated in detail by her sister, Gola Spencer.

Tom Finch, the husband of Mrs. Mollie Finch, and G. W. Sloan testified concerning shoe tracks they had seen in the vicinity of the scene of the killing.

Mrs. Curt Barnes, who lives on Monroe's farm, testified that Ella Monroe came to her house at 4 o'clock the afternoon of the killing and stayed until sundown. Shortly after supper Mrs. Barnes said Ova Monroe came to her house and asked her to go to the Monroe home. When she got there she said Ella Monroe was crying. Curt Barnes said that he saw Ella Monroe at his house on the afternoon of the killing and that he and his wife went to Monroe's home that night. He thought he heard Ella sob once, Barnes testified.

The Commonwealth unexpectedly introduced Mrs. John Monroe, mother of the accused girl, as a witness for the State. Mrs. Monroe said her daughter reached home at 2:30 last Tuesday afternoon and stayed there continuously until 4 o'clock. She identified the shoes which the State introduced yesterday, but said that when she, Mrs. Monroe, last wore them she threw them back in the closet. The stockings offered by the State also were identified.

Dr. E. R. Hayes being recalled as the first witness to-day, swore that he did not see any bruises on the Gregory girl's head. Squire G. L. Hodges, who held the inquest, testified that he found a 28-gauge gun was on the Gregory girl's person, about an inch from the wound.

Powder-burned clothes were offered in evidence by Mr. Hodges.

Mrs. James Calvert, living near Solway, swore that about 1:30 o'clock on the afternoon of the tragedy, she saw Ella Monroe pass her home reading a letter. So intent was the girl, Mrs. Calvert stated, that when she, Ella Monroe, stumbled on a root, she did not lift her eyes from the letter.

This morning Deputy Sheriff Fife testified to having found the shoes and stockings tied in a bundle and secreted under a box in a closet at the Monroe home. Mrs. Monroe stated the shoes were hers. The shoes Mrs. Monroe wore in court to-day, said to be larger than the ones to which she claimed ownership, were introduced as evidence. John Monroe and Ova Monroe, father and brother of the girl, respectively, testified.

Luther Quiggins and Clint Audrey, who were at work with Will Roy Dupin on the day of the killing, proved an alibi for Dupin and at the conclusion of Audrey's testimony Dupin was dismissed upon motion of Commonwealth's Attorney Moorman. Dupin was at once called to the stand and identified the gun previously offered in evidence as the gun which he had borrowed from Adolphus Helms two weeks ago. Dupin said he borrowed two shells from Helms and had used one. The other he thought he had left on the mantle at the Monroe home on the day before the killing. Dupin said he could not find the shell after the tragedy occurred.

GIRL, FEARING SLAVERY, FIRES APARTMENT; HELD

Cleveland, O., March 30.—As a result of the confession of Bessie Reimers, 19 years old, a waitress, that driven by fear she would be forced into white slavery she had set fire to the Foster apartments here Tuesday, causing the death of two persons and injury to eighteen. The girl was arrested on the charge of manslaughter and arson.

George Hanson, a waiter, 25 years old, and George Bauman, 26 years old, were also arrested on the charge of being suspicious persons, pending investigation by the police.

In her signed confession to Chief of Detectives Rabshaw the girl said she was driven to desperation by Hanson and his associates who, she said, wanted her to become a white slave. As a result of a police raid on the Foster apartments last week, in which she was innocently involved, she lost her position as waitress and in her confession declared she sought death as a means of evading Hanson and his temptations.

HOT COALS HIDE BABE WHICH WAS ABANDONED

Norfolk, Va., March 31.—Hidden by hot coals, a tiny girl babe was found in a pile of trash near Thirty-fourth street and Colonial avenue yesterday. Its little body was blistered from the hot coals and it died early to-day.

The police so far have been unable to find any trace of its mother. The location in which the child was found is near the fashionable residential section of the city.

The child apparently was only about a day old, but it was crying loud enough to be heard some distance away by a negro, who was raking through the trash pile for junk.

Its face and body were badly blistered from the hot coals.

GRAPHIC ACCOUNT BY AN AVIATOR

Of His Sufferings When Lost In Mexico.

HALLUCINATIONS CAME TO HIM

"I Knew That I Was Dying, But Knew, Too, That I Must Not Die."

FRIGHTFUL TORTURE ENDURED

Columbus, N. M., March 28.—Aviation Lieutenant Edgar S. Gorrell, of Baltimore, who for three days was lost in the Mexican desert, returned to Columbus to-day, with dispatches from the front.

He told an intensely graphic story of his flight southward in an underpowered aeroplane. He carried only a quart of water and his three days' ration was shaved as closely as possible in order to decrease by every ounce the weight to be carried by his machine. He finally was forced to land because his gasoline had run out.

After three days he succeeded in reaching the American lines, secured a new supply of oil and gasoline, returned to his abandoned aeroplane and resumed his trip to headquarters at the front.

Lieutenant Gorrell is typical of the men of the upper air. He is compactly built. His eyes and hair are coal black. His face is tanned to a leathery network of fine lines.

"We started south eight days ago," said Lieutenant Gorrell, "in the oven-like, tin-roofed shack that is the aviation base here. Flyers were urgently needed at the front and we were all glad of the chance to answer the call.

"Darkness came when we were about half way to our destination. We had planned to land in the vicinity of Ascencion. Lieutenant Willis and I were flying 3,000 feet or more above the height at which the others flew and missed the landing. Ahead we saw a light that looked like a camp and we flew to it. We learned, too late, that a forest fire had misled us.

"Willis flew north, looking for a landing place, and I circled to the westward. I finally was forced to land because there was no oil and no gasoline for my engine.

"It was almost as if God had piloted. I couldn't have gone further and I landed in the only open ground for miles about. I did not learn this, however, until the following morning. It was too dark to see when I landed.

"I heard dogs barking and saw the dim shadows of adobe shacks. That spelled 'Mex' to me, and I did not want to see them. To either side glistened the peaks of mountain ranges, running east and west. I decided to make for the northern range, nearest to where I thought our troops must be.

"On hands and knees, to avoid being seen, I crawled for hours. About 2 o'clock I made the hills and slept until sunrise. That was Monday. I wanted to get west, to the roadway.

"At noon with the water half gone from my canteen, I felt weakness. My map showed that I was not more than one-third of the way. There was no sign of water and I turned back.

"The sun seemed to burn through my clothes. I took off my skull cap and it burned all the more.

"Ahead I seemed to see a lake, full of cool, splashing water, with waves and whitecaps. I started to run, and the beautiful lake disappeared. I tried my canteen, but it was empty. The wild fear that comes over a man when he is facing something that he can't understand, seized me.

"I threw my canteen away, because it was useless. In my mind, though, was a picture of a saw-toothed mountain, far, far off ahead of me. I plunged toward it.

"Several times I fell and lay stupefied. I don't remember how often, but each time, when my senses came back the vision of the saw-toothed mountain was ahead. It seemed a haven.

"My eyes bulged. My ears hummed. My tongue stuck to the dry, rasping roof of my mouth. I knew that I was dying, but knew too, that I must not die.

"Finally darkness came and a bone-eating chill settled over me. I fell, my face landing in a water hole.

"I doused my head in the water. I splashed it over my burning shoulders; I waded in it to cool my feet. Then I lay down on the bank with my feet still in the water and slept. "A feeling that I was freezing to death awoke me. I got up and beat my hands against my body to bring back the circulation. And then, crawling, not to avoid Mexicans, but because my feet were too sore to carry me, I started back to my machine. "Feeding in a bit of open grass land I came upon some horses. More by luck than design I managed to catch one. He was a sorry animal, but still a horse, and I felt that with him I could get back to the troops. I drew a knife and cut a strip from my overalls for a rope to hold the horse. As I was cutting other strips to make a bridle a Mexican on horseback appeared. It was then just about dawn of last Tuesday.

"My revolver was still in its holster. Why I had not thrown it away to save weight, or why it had not fallen out, I don't know. But I drew it and the Mexican put his hands high above his head.

"'Bueno amigo,' said the Mexican. 'If you are a friend, get me a horse like yours and a saddle,' I said, and he must have known everything, for he nodded and motioned for me to follow.

"In an adobe hut nearby he found a saddle and threw it on the horse. I still led with a strip of cloth.

"Then I asked him if he knew where the American troops were. He nodded. I motioned him to lead and I followed on the horse, with the pistol still in my hand.

"A short time brought us to a patrol. They led me into the Ascencion outposts, here I got together several gallons of gasoline, some oil and a guard and started back to my machine. Many Mexicans were gathered around it, but they had not disturbed anything, and I was able to equip and start flying again for the camp.

"There I found that Lieutenant Willis had made his way in, too, but that his machine had been cut and slashed to pieces by Mexicans.

"I am mighty glad to be back again and mighty thankful that I've been as lucky as I have."

Lieutenant Gorrell flew into camp today and insists that in spite of his experience, he is now as good as ever for service.

TEDDY HAS RETURNED—DISCOVERS RARE BIRD

New York, April 1.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt has returned from the West Indies, silent on politics and the Mexican situation, but announcing the discovery in Trinidad of what was to him a new variety of bird in which he was much interested.

The bird, he said was about as big as a barn owl. It lives in caves, is nocturnal in its habits and eats nuts. Its native name, he added, was the "guacharo."

Asked by one of the newspaper men who met him at quarantine if the bird "barked like a dog," Colonel Roosevelt pointed a finger warningly and exclaimed:

"Now, no nature faking, sir." Colonel Roosevelt declined to discuss his plans for the future, but said he probably would see George W. Perkins at Oyster Bay soon.

One Good Letter.

Some one has advanced the opinion that the letter "e" is the most unfortunate letter in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger and in hell all the time. For some reason he overlooked the fortunes of the letter, as we call his attention to the fact "e" is never in war and always in peace. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no meat, no life and no heaven. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect and without it there could be no editors, devils or news.

It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. Thousands of the best women in the world are bearing the burden of backache, headache, dragging pains, a miserable half-dead, half-alive condition, produced by chronic internal derangements. Mrs. Joseph Lacelle, 124 Glenora Ave., Ottawa East, Ontario, Canada, is one of the fair women of America who has had her experience with this sort of a burden. Her experience is similar to the multitude of other women whose letters are recorded in the "Ills of Life." A copy of this free booklet ought to be in the hands of every housewife in the United States. Read what Mrs. Lacelle says:

"I suffered with backache, headache and dragging pains for over nine months, and nothing relieved me until I took Peruna. This medicine is by far better than any other medicine for these troubles. A few bottles relieved me of my miserable half-dead, half-alive condition. I am now in good health, have neither ache nor pain, nor have I had any for the past year. If every suffering woman would take Peruna, they would soon know its value and never be without it."

THE KEYNOTE AS SOUNDED BY ROOT

In the Political Campaign
This Year

IS MORE OR LESS CONFUSING

Requires Interpreter To Find Out Real Meaning Of Elihu's Sentiments.

"ABLEST LIVING REPUBLICAN"

(By Savoyard.)

Washington, March 30.—Mr. Elihu Root is universally conceded to be the ablest living Republican. Perhaps that party has never produced his superior as a thinker. As a lawyer he is the head of the American bar. He served with prodigious distinction in the cabinets of two Republican Presidents. As Secretary of State he was the balance wheel of the Roosevelt administration. His "swing around the circle" in South America showed that he can be broad-minded and far-seeing, after the order of Woodrow Wilson, who has brought those Latin people into a bond of intimacy with and confidence in our Government.

Then it was natural and proper that Mr. Root should be appointed to sound the Republican "keynote" of this year's political campaign. He is not only a great statesman, but in the game of politics he is a hand-and-a-half as well, as witness his jamming the nomination of Taft through the Republican National Convention of 1912, of which he was permanent president. If he were ten years younger it is practically assured that he would head the ticket in 1916, and few would be surprised if he should be nominated after all, notwithstanding he is past three-score and ten years of age.

Mr. Root has sounded the keynote, and such a keynote! Now, a keynote should require no interpreter. It ought to be plain to every understanding and have the same meaning everywhere. But folks are at a loss to comprehend precisely what Mr. Root was driving at. Some will tell you that this keynote is a boost for Col. Roosevelt. Others incline to the belief that Mr. Root is trying to steal Col. Roosevelt's thunder. Unmistakably, his voice is for war against Mexico and against Germany. As to that there is no uncertain sound. He severely condemns Wilson for not sustaining Huerta and his cutthroat gang, and he is in a rage because Wilson did not choke Germany off Belgium.

In the platform on which Abraham Lincoln ran for President in 1860 is an indictment of those "twin relics of barbarism," human slavery and the Mormon church. For more than a dozen years the Mormon church has been a trusted ally of "the Party of Great Moral Ideas," and in 1912 that "twin relic of barbarism" supplied the G. O. P. with one-half the votes it received in the electoral college in a Presidential year. And since the inauguration of Wilson the party of Lincoln and Sumner has severely criticized him for not lending countenance to Huerta in Mexico, who stood for human slavery, and nothing but human slavery.

"Vice is a monster of such hideous mien
As to be hated needs but to be seen;
But seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

And to that complexion has come at last the Republican party—in firm alliance with the Mormon church at home and the apologist and supporter of human slavery abroad!

Now, Root complains of Wilson because he did not challenge Germany for the invasion of Belgium in 1914. In that he is only the echo of Theodore Roosevelt, who holds that, like England, we are bound by treaty to do so. If his indictment means

JACKSON, MISS., MAN

Tells How To Cure Chronic Cough
Jackson, Miss.—"I am a carpenter, and the gripe left me with a chronic cough, run-down, worn out and weak. I took all kinds of cough syrups without help. I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Before I had taken a bottle I felt better, and after taking two bottles my cough is entirely cured, and I have gained new vim and energy."—JOHN L. DENNIS.

Vinol is a delicious cod liver and iron tonic, guaranteed for coughs, colds and bronchitis and for all weak, run-down conditions.
James H. Williams, Druggist, Hartford, Ky. Vinol is sold in Beaver Dam by Z. W. Mitchell, Druggist.

anything, it is condemnation of the President for not going to war with Germany. At that time it was the opinion of everybody—and certainly the opinion of Germany—that she was not only invincible but irresistible on the field of Mars. Suppose Wilson had protested German's conduct of the war? What would have followed? A war between the United States and Germany, as certainly as the sun rises to his course in the East. Everybody knows that.

Then Mr. Root is not sincere in his condemnation of Wilson for not challenging Germany, or he is for war with Germany. What follows if this keynote is accepted by the Republican party and incorporated in the Republican platform? The issue will be the Democratic party and peace against the Republican party and war. All the lawyers in Philadelphia and Elihu Root thrown in cannot twist the thing so as to have any other meaning.

Mr. Root is from the East. So is Col. Roosevelt. So is Joseph H. Choate; so is James M. Beck; so is Augustus P. Gardner; so is the New York Tribune; and there is little doubt that these reflect public opinion in New York and Massachusetts. But that is not the opinion of the country by a long sight, and this latter opinion is reflected by Woodrow Wilson. It is for peace and it is for Wilson, both as to his Mexican policy and his policy in regard to the war in Europe.

It was Boss Barnes' convention in New York and Tom Platt never had a firmer grip on the party than his successor in the boss-ship now has. It is the chief ambition of Barnes to defeat Roosevelt for the Republican nomination, and Barnes it was who ordered the expurgation of the complimentary reference to Roosevelt in this year's "keynote" of the versatile versatile interpretation.

Now, whatever else Teddy may be, he is a fighter. Suppose Barnes, Crane, Penrose and all the other bosses turn up at Chicago with enough "handpicked" delegates to steam-roll the convention? What will follow?

This, and only this—Teddy will bring out the Bull Moose and we will have 1912 over again—unless Teddy has turned mollycoddle.

CRITTENDEN FISCAL COURT WAS INDICTED

Marion, Ky., March 31.—The grand jury at the present term of the Crittenden county circuit court indicted the fiscal court of the county for "being interested and concerned in contracts for work to be done and teams to be furnished for said county in work on the public roads and highways of said county."

The indictment was returned under section 1,844 of the Kentucky statutes making the fine for said offense from $500 to $5,000. The indictment was based upon an order made by the fiscal court whereby it purchased eight road graders for the county, one for each magisterial district, and allowed $400 to be expended on the roads in each district and then appointed themselves as supervisors of said roads, grading in their respective districts at a salary of $2 per day.

The members of the court are: F. M. Davidson, H. S. Wheeler, T. A. Yandell, L. N. Sisco, Charles T. Riley, W. T. Terry, C. B. Woody and C. C. Walker.

Told That There Was No Cure For Him.

"After suffering for over twenty years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think it only right to tell you for the sake of other sufferers as well as your own satisfaction that a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me but cured me within two months although I am a man of 65 years," writes Jul. Grobier, Houston, Texas. Obtainable everywhere.

CAUGHT IN BARBER WIRE, MAN DIES OF EXPOSURE

Myerstown, Penn., March 31.—Missing since early Sunday, when he started out over his extensive farm, Henry Hicksenisher, 64 years old, was found dead by searchers fast in a barbed wire fence.

The aged man had attempted to crawl through the fence, when his clothing became caught; and he was gripped so firmly that he was unable to extricate himself. The condition of his clothing and marks in the snow showed Hicksenisher must have struggled for hours in an attempt to free himself from the barbs, only to entangle himself the more.

Thus entrapped, he slowly perished from exposure, his face buried in the snow.

THE "SHOW ME" SPIRIT NOT GOOD

When Applied To Vital Affairs Of Life.

TOO MUCH GUARANTEE WANTED

In Case of War Middle West Would Furnish Bulk Of American Army.

MANY ILLUSIONS HAVE FADED

Some patriotic Easterners blame everything unsatisfactory about the state of the nation on the Middle West. And that isn't all. Most of the people who lay upon the Middle West the responsibility for American pacifism, for the unreadiness of the country to maintain its policies or its honor, for the opposition to "preparedness," and for Congressional pro-Germanism, are folks who have never crossed the Alleghenies or the Blue Ridge. And yet, in the event of the United States really having war on its hands, the Middle West would furnish the backbone of the necessary American army—just as it furnished the backbone of the Federal army in the Civil War.

The one unfortunate feature in the situation is, by our view, the implied confession of a tendency to wait for danger to mature, instead of exercising a fair degree of foresightedness. Some people want to see the individual burglar, and have him guaranteed as a disturber of their peace before they will take out burglary insurance. During the last few years we have heard a good deal about this "show me" spirit, this "I'm from Missouri" spirit. That spirit is the spirit which has bankrupted railroads entering St. Louis—and not the spirit which built up our Middle West. There would not be a great railroad system in the United States nor a great telephone or telegraph system if the "show me," the "I'm from Missouri" spirit had dominated Jim Hill and the men who went before him.

In France long before August, 1914, in England no less than in France, voices were raised to warn the nation that all things pointed to a German attack. In both France and England such voices as those of Lord Roberts, Prof. Cramb and M. Vergnet, author of "France in Danger," were discounted as mere hysterics. In those countries the "I'm from Missouri" spirit has cost a great many millions in money and men.

Not that America is arming against Germany. In our opinion an American war with Germany now or in the proximate future is by no means likely—and it is certainly not wished for. Moreover, the likelihood of that war ever happening will be reduced almost directly in proportion to the degree of American readiness for it. The outstanding fact to-morrow will not be Germany's contempt for the United States, but rather the fact that a great many illusions have already gone smash since August, 1914, and that more of them will be smashed before peace is signed at a great European congress. Still other illusions, political and economic, too, will go by the board in the years following the signing of peace. It ought to be pretty clear to any thoughtful observer that for a good many years to come national prestige, policy and foreign commerce will to a great extent depend upon available fighting force. If this is not obvious to any of our readers those particular readers must have a somewhat incomplete understanding of the events of the past two years and the promise of the future. —Collier's.

SUES FOR FAILURE TO DELIVER TOBACCO CROP

Paducah, Ky., March 31.—The first of a series of suits for alleged violation of contracts for tobacco crops was filed in Magistrate C. W. Emery's court here by the Hodge Tobacco Company against J. T. Hall. The plaintiff charges that Hall signed a written contract to deliver his tobacco crop to it at a stated price. The Hodge Tobacco Company asks that it be given a judgment for $42.50, the alleged difference between the market price at the time the contract was made and the price at the time the suit was filed. Numerous violations of contracts have occurred recently, tobacco buyers say, and several suits are in prospect.

CONSCIENCE STRICKEN— RETURNS STOLEN CASH

Richmond, Ind., March 31.—Twenty-two years ago as J. N. Baldwin, then a huckster, was driving to his home, 15 miles north of here, he was held up by three masked men and robbed of $25, the robbery occurring just at dusk on the public highway and in sight of his home. There was no clew and the case was dropped without investigation.

Baldwin, who seven years ago moved to Cowan, near Muncie, and now is traveling as an evangelist, has received a letter sent from Hagerstown, Ind., in which $35 was inclosed. The letter read:

"Here is your money. I want to get this from my mind and get clear of this sin. All these years, since I helped to rob you, have been years of hell. I was but 16 years old, and bad company got me into it. The gun I pointed at you while the other two highwaymen robbed you was a pocket knife."

"You said, 'Oh, my God.' Now I have said that same many a time since in my prayers for forgiveness. The other two who helped are still living, but neither helped me make this good to you."

MOTHER JUMPS INTO A LAKE WITH HER CHILD

Greenville, Penn., March 31.—With her daughter Maude, 8 years old, in her arms, Mrs. Murray English, 39, of Erie, Penn., committed suicide at the home of her father at Hadley, near here, this morning by jumping into a small lake.

The child was drowned with her mother. English conducts a summer hotel at Hadley and had taken his wife and child there lately for the woman's health, her mind being partly affected. This morning they were missing, and when a search was made the bodies were found, the little girl being tightly clasped in the arms of her mother.

"The Place Where Your Dollar Buys Most."

THE HARTFORD HERALD

FEER MATTHEWS, FRANK L. FELIX,
EDITORS
FRANK L. FELIX, Pub. and Prop'r

Entered at the Hartford post-office as mail matter of the second class.

We have been looking for a sheltering nook into which to dodge to escape being drafted into service in Mexico, and happily have found it. We did not want to admit that we were too old, but the new escape is much easier and does not necessarily or always involve the question of age. It is announced at the war recruiting stations that no baldheaded men will be accepted. That edict frees us and we can still jump up and crack our heels together two or three times before hitting the ground.

A Herald reader has been getting after us because we do not stir up the subject of a Commercial Club for Hartford and Ohio county some more. We are quite willing to agitate but sometimes agitation ceases to be a virtue. Everybody knows we need some such kind of an institution. It need not be called a Commercial Club, but Progressive League, Boosters Bunch, Mutual Welfare Club, or any other good name that will designate its purpose and function. Its activities should take in the whole county—every town and rural community. Anyhow, let's get up something that will make more and better business.

It seems that Lexington, Ky., is the home of another one of those reckless and sensation-loving city newspaper correspondents, like Ohio county has suffered from. The matter in point was the account sent to a city daily of the deplorable tragedy in Hardin county where one young lady is accused of murdering another. The Elizabethtown News brands the objectionable article as "a lurid lot of lies." In defense of themselves and their habit of giving a correct account of events, the newspapers of the State should use every effort to show up these sensational newspaper correspondents in their true light. And the city dailies would do well to take notice.

Col. Roosevelt returned last week from the West Indies, much refreshed. He wouldn't discuss politics, but talked "bird." He said he had discovered a rare member of the feathered tribe called "guachara," which has whiskers and lives on a diet of nuts. Then the ornithologists took a whack at the Colonel. They did not accuse him of nature faking, but it was asserted that this particular species of bird was discovered by Baron von Humboldt 117 years ago. It is also stated that several specimens of it are already in this country, both alive and stuffed. The whiskers were admitted, but the nut diet denied. The Colonel will have to go back and get something newer.

There can be no doubt that fabulous fortunes are being made in this country nowadays by the barons of finance because of the war. Millions of profit are being made by those able to control certain schemes which embrace supplies for non-working but warring factions. And yet some of the heads of these big money-making institutions hold up their hands in apparent horror if the American workingman—the real producer of all this wealth—ventures to ask a share, by way of deservedly increased wages in the flow of gold that is coming to this country. The prosperity should not be one-sided. The American workingmen should share in it as well as their wealthy bosses.

Modern journalism is supposed to be of a type honest, elevating and fair. Those journals which stand highest in the esteem of the public are the ones which have a well defined and understood policy but which are fair and honest with their political antagonists in editorial expressions, and devoid of ungrounded criticism. The Louisville Herald can hardly be embraced in this class. It is insistent in its unfair criticism of President Wilson. It does not hesitate to employ its own construction of a situation and put him in a false light, merely in the habit of differing from him. Of course this is politics—of a certain sort. But the able writer of the Louisville Herald places himself and his paper in a bad light.

Somebody "sent in" the following to the Green River Republican, published at Morgantown, Ky., which it prints editorially:

"If the G. O. P. elephant could, in some manner or other, get his big, flat foot in T. R.'s mouth, and keep it there, the elephant would have performed a great service to suffering mankind."

Treason! Lese majesty! Why, Teddy Roosevelt is the main and undisputed show of the ten-shows-under-one-tent aggregation of the Republican organization and without him future performances would have to be cancelled. Besides, putting an elephant's foot in his mouth would very nearly close it and stop utterance, without which T. R. would almost surely die. Better not let Teddy see that paragraph. He might sue!

Quarantine Lifted.

The foot and mouth disease quarantine has been lifted throughout the United States. The Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., issued Bureau of Animal Industry Order No. 24, effective Friday, revoking all other orders and amendments on all quarantine restrictions. The foot and mouth disease, which for two years caused heavy losses to stock raisers and interfered with shipments because of the quarantine, has been entirely eradicated in this country. The disease was discovered in Jefferson county November 9, 1914, and the last trace of it noticed March 23, 1915.

Immense Exports.

The New York World says: February established a monthly record for exports from the port of New York, according to figures made public yesterday by the customs officials. The money value was $220,246,620. The next highest month is November, 1915, when merchandise to the value of $188,036,458 was shipped abroad.

February, 1915, showed exports of $109,493,487. Imports during February this year were $103,084,535, against $71,015,866 in February, 1915.

The Negro Element Getting Cold Comfort.

Lexington, Ky., April 1.—J. W. McCulloch, Republican National Committeeman from Kentucky, will stand pat on his early morning election held by electric light at the conclusion of the recent Republican State Convention in Louisville, feeling secure in the "cards" he holds. This was the decision reached by Mr. McCulloch after a conference with a number of his friends and leading Republicans here to-night.

"I have been duly elected National Committeeman and will serve in that capacity for the next four years," he said.

After the election of Mr. McCulloch in Louisville March 1 he left the State on business, and the meeting to-day was the first he has had with his friends since the protest against his selection as National Committeeman was made. Among the Republican leaders who attended the conference were Edwin P. Morrow, of Somerset; William D. Cochran, of Maysville; Harry Giovannoli, of Lexington; Ed. T. Franks, of Owensboro; Maurice Galvin, of Covington; H. Green Garrett, of Winchester; Judge R. H. Winn, of Mt. Sterling; E. R. Miller, of Paducah, and Phil Brown, of Hopkinsville.

It was stated that the protest of the negroes against their race being given only half a vote on the delegation from the State-at-large was considered at the conference, but no action was taken.

OLATON.

April 3.—Mrs. Josie Lyons, wife of Chester Lyons, died Tuesday morning, March 28th, of the much dreaded disease tuberculosis, from which she had been suffering for the last two or three years. After funeral services by Rev. Birch Shields, her remains were interred in the Olaton cemetery. She leaves surviving a husband, three children, Ninah, Daniel and William; parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Daniel; two sisters, Mrs. Charley Felix, Winfield, La.; Mrs. Ida Aeton, living with her parents; two brothers, Mr. J. A. Daniel, Pleasant Ridge; Mr. George W. Daniel, Owensboro, and many other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Fozzo Farris is very sick. Mr. Netter Faught is getting up again. His daughter is improving slowly.

Several from around Olaton went to Red Hill to the Holy Roller meeting. The saddles and bridles of some of the boys were cut while there. The Holy Rollers held a six-weeks meeting here at Olaton, but it seems some of the youngsters did not get enough. We believe those who are conducting the Holy Roller meeting are sincere in their belief and they preach the Bible as they understand it, but woe unto these makers who go to the meeting for nothing but to laugh and make fun. The time is coming when they will regret their conduct towards those who are serving the Lord as they understand the Bible.

Mr. Lee Patterson has gotten able to resume work in his store again. Willie Earl and Lyman Barrett, of Davison, were at Olaton Saturday on a business trip.

There have been some fine fish caught out of Caney creek this spring.

It seems like the people in these parts have about quit talking about the European war—have turned their attention to President Wilson and Gov. Stanley and the late Legislature. We are glad to know that they are both hightoned gentlemen, staunch Democratic leaders, and we fear no evil as long as we have such men at the head of our Government and State.

The farmers are now busy preparing to get their crops out, while the women are setting hens—preparing for fried chicken. The high price of poultry has put new life in this industry—so much so that we men can hardly get any eggs for breakfast. But we will make it up on fried chicken.

Notice, Farmers!

The Ohio County Union of the A. S. of E. will meet at Hartford on April 8th at 10 o'clock and the State Secretary S. B. Robertson and others of the State Board will be with us. So let all locals be represented and all farmers that can, be present. All those wanting binder twine should put in their order by then, also those wanting salt and fertilizer. Those who have not delivered their poultry should be at this meeting. HENRY M. PIRTLE, County Sec'y.

Mail in your order for high grade Acid Phosphate—16 per cent—$1 per hundred pounds. Barn Wheat and Oats Grower $1.20 per hundred pounds. Golden Leaf Tobacco Grower $1.25 per hundred pounds. The above prices at car.

The next meeting of the K. E. A. which will be held in Louisville April 19th to 22d, promises to be one of the most interesting meetings ever held in the State. A splendid program has been prepared and it is to be hoped that many of the teachers and trustees from the county will attend. We understand the entire faculty from Hartford College will attend.

A. S. OF E. NOTICE AS TO THE POULTRY DEAL

Don't forget the next poultry delivery at Hartford and Beaver Dam on April the 12th and 13th, and at Centertown, April 13th, p. m., and April 14th, all day.

Remember all poultry can be delivered at pooled prices whether you have signed the pledge or not, as the purchaser has agreed to take the outside poultry, or in other words, this is done in order to avoid confusion at the car and to give every one a chance to take advantage of the high prices.

Thirteen cents was the maximum price up until the day the pool was bought and is yet except in territories where the pool has raised the price. This raise was compelled by other produce firms in order to get poultry and weaken the organization.

Don't forget that the buyer of this pool bid the highest prices and that others have bid more on the day of delivery to buy you, and not to pay more for your poultry; that it is costing the pool buyer more than the other fellow, since he pays to the organization 1 1/2 per cent. to pay your dues so that the organization may be maintained, and that this is paid above the sale price, which is as follows Hens $14.30, Cocks 9c, Ducks $14.30, Turkeys 16c, Geese 12c, Guineas 25c each. So now don't sell yourself but deliver the goods to the pool car and save your organization.

Church Social.

The ladies of the First Christian Church gave a social at the home of Mrs. W. J. Bean last Thursday evening. Each lady brought a hen or the price thereof and each gentleman was supposed to bring a rooster or the price thereof. It was a success in a financial way as well as a most delightful evening spent in the home of such a splendid hostess and most pleasant entertainer as Mrs. W. J. Bean. Most delightful music was rendered by Misses Anna Ray and Mary Austin Carson. Solo by Mrs. Claude E. Smith, accompanied by Mrs. Joe Miller with the violin. Also music by Miss Evelyn Clark and Miss Beulah Palmer. The entertainment was so well planned and carried out that the guests were very reluctant to leave even at the late hour of ten o'clock.

Fight Like Dogs For Food.

Seward, Alaska, March 31.—Conditions due to famine in native settlements in the Kuskokwim hot springs country were described as terrible by William Lee and Joseph McDowell. At Sletmut village they found eighty natives living on dog salmon, which they devoured like animals. When the natives discovered the white men's camp they sat around in a circle, waiting for scraps of food, over which men, women and children fought like dogs.

McHENRY DEPOSIT BANK IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

At a meeting of the board of directors of the McHenry Deposit Bank, held Monday at the conclusion of the inspection of said bank's affairs by State Bank Examiner, E. L. Augustus, it was decided to liquidate the bank's business. To this end the present cashier, L. C. Brown, was chosen as a Special Deputy Banking Commissioner and will assume the duties as such as soon as his commission arrives from Frankfort. In the meantime the affairs of the bank will be in the hands of State Bank Examiner E. L. Augustus. We are reliably informed that all depositors will likely be paid in full, but as to how much the stockholders will have to put up under the double liability act, is not known.

The bank had a capital stock of $15,000 and surplus of $1,600. Liabilities as yet not fully known.

The failure of the bank is attributed to the closing of the McHenry Coal Co.'s mines and the consequent general business depression in the community.

Shooting Affray.

John King and his son Charley became involved in a difficulty at their home in Hartford Saturday night about 9:30. Young King fired two shots at his father with a revolver, without hitting him, and the latter grabbed a loaded shotgun which he was prevented from using by the timely arrival of Town Marshal Williams. Charley King was presented before County Judge John B. Wilson Monday afternoon. He waived examining trial and was held for the grand jury upon the charge of maliciously shooting at another without wounding. His bond was placed at $200, which he gave.

John King was also arrested and gave bond for his appearance before Judge Wilson yesterday afternoon. At the hour of going to press this case, wherein he is charged with breach of the peace, was on trial.

CHILLY SUMMER

THE ARCTIC SEASON OF 1816

Is Recalled and Words Of Some People Who Experienced
It Are Quoted.

WAS LITTLE USE OF PLANTING

In these parts there seems to be a feeling of resentment against the hibernating groundhog because he proved to be a false prophet when he hobbled from his winter home on February 2 to take a weather observation. Arcotomys monax, not seeing a shadow of himself, returned to his snugery for a brief stay, confident that spring would soon come up from the South. So tradition had it. Forthwith winter began to rage with blizzards and bitter cold, storm upon storm and rude blasts unintermittent, day after day and week after week, until it seemed that when the season changed it must be from winter to summer, with spring lost in the shuffle. But the groundhog was right after all. He went back into his hole prepared to stand a long siege of wintry weather. It was leap year, and an old verse has it:

"If cloudy Candlemas Day in the leap year be,
And the woodchuck his shadow cannot see,
Back to his ground hole he goes to stay,
For winter will last till All Fools' Day."

This in justification of the groundhog or woodchuck. As a weather prophet his reputation has really been enhanced. But what we should like to know is whether the arctic year of 1816 is to be repeated in 1916. Unfortunately the groundhog cannot enlighten us, although his interest in the matter is paramount. A vegetarian, rations would be hard to find if there were to be no summer in 1916. Twenty years ago The Sun published an interview with an aged man, James Winchester, who was 14 years old when his native State of Vermont was devastated by snowstorms in the summer of the year after Waterloo saw Napoleon's star go down in blackest night and peace returned to war-wasted Europe. The whole year of 1816, with brief intervals of tepidity, was cold and comfortless. On June 17 snow fell to a depth of 10 inches in Vermont, and in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania it was three inches deep. "That storm of June 17," said James Winchester, "was one of the severest I ever saw, even in the depth of winter, in that locality of severe snows." A wind, bitter cold, came out of the north and piled the snow in deep drifts. An uncle of James Winchester who sallied out in the whirl of flakes to herd some sheep in a distant pasture lost his way, and three days afterward a searching party found him dead in a great drift. There was no summer that year. Describing the terrible season, Mr. Winchester said:

"The wind during June, July and August of 1816 was continuously from the north, and it blew fiercely and cold. Farmers wore heavy overcoats and mittens while about their work every day during those months. There was but little use of planting anything; nothing grew to speak of, but they did plant corn as usual and planted fifth mittens on. . . . July was colder even than June, and August was colder than July, but in August it froze an inch and more. There was a heavy snowstorm on August 30. The whole summer was as bleak and dreary as November. There was not a green thing to be seen anywhere."

How did the woodchuck eke out a subsistence? How did any one keep warm? As a matter of fact everybody was miserable and many were ripped by superstition. Had the sun lost its power, and was the end of the world coming? James Gooding, a Vermont farmer, thought so. In the belief that freezing and starvation was to be the fate of all living creatures, he humanely killed his cattle and hanged himself in the barn, after urging Mrs. Gooding to follow his example. There was a little warmth the first fortnight in September. The mercury in the tube crept up to 70 degrees, but in the middle of the month wintry conditions returned, and there was no more relief. The crops were, of course, a failure. A terrible year! But there has been nothing like it in this part of the world since—that is to say, no long protracted and crop-killing cold on such a scale. New England has had its "dark days," when pious old women and fearful old men miserably stood, so they thought, in the shadow of the Last Judgment; but the Arctic Circle has not dropped down to the latitude of Bennington. Why should the snows and bitter colds of 1816 recur 100 years later? There is the co-incidence of an era of war and desolation in Europe, but the parallel is not complete in that we have not seen the end of ours. It cannot be left to the ground hog, dependable prophet, as he is, though his re-emergence might hold a portent.—[New York Sun.]

MODERN FABLES.

Once upon a time, on a fertile farm that was bounded on all sides by other fertile farms, there dwelt a tiller of the soil whose quarter section was a veritable museum of alleviators of the weariness so often closely associated with farm work. His shed reminded one of a machinery exhibit at a State Fair. He plowed with steam, sawed wood with gasoline and pitched hay with electricity. Most of his working hours were spent sitting on a stool winding the mainspring on some patented contrivance that did the perspiring and assumed all tired feelings and back-aches.

Inside the house, however, it was different. The wife performed her usual Monday wash-day task by the same method that the good housewives had employed while Ben Franklin was a printer's devil. The only modern invention in the kitchen was a new fangled egg beater that the wife had received in exchange for six hundred of her husband's tobacco tags and twelve cents in stamps.

One day the rural carrier brought a letter telling of the arrival of a baby boy at the home of the oldest son in a neighboring county-seat. The old lady never rested until she had exchanged a portion of the butter and egg money she kept in the blue china cup on the top shelf of the cupboard, for a railroad ticket to the scene of the wonderful event. The old man stayed at home to oil up the machinery. He also resolved to do the housework during the wife's absence. Three weeks later when the wife returned she found her lord and master sweeping the parlor with an electric vacuum cleaner, while a power washer did the washing, a motor churn did the churning and a self-acting sewing machine was merrily repairing a barbed wire snag in the old man's overalls.

HAS EARLINGTON FOUND THE SAME?

The Answer Is Found in the Straightforward Statement of An Earlington Resident.

We have been reading week after week in the local press of Hartford citizens who have been rid of distressing kidney and bladder troubles by Doan's Kidney Pills, and we have often wondered whether the same high opinion of this medicine is to be found in our neighboring town. This frank and earnest statement by a well known and respected resident of Earlington will set this doubt at rest.

Mrs. Pearl Walton, Earlington, Ky., says: "I suffered from weak kidneys. I did not pay much attention to the trouble at first, but when I found that I had little control over the kidney secretions, I knew that something must be done. My rest was broken at night and in the morning I was tired and worn out. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and my kidneys have been in good condition since."

Medicine, Tanlac.

Of all the ailments that afflict humanity, chronic dyspepsia probably is the most common. Its causes and characterizations are many. Skilled specialists have been unable to cope with this almost universal malady, but Mother Nature, who, after all, is the ideal physician, in combination with skill in chemistry, has compounded in her inexhaustible laboratory a marvelous remedy for this trouble.

A lecturer would use hours to describe the suffering that dyspepsia brings. Dyspepsia becomes listless, then morbid, are melancholy over little things, have whimsical ideas, perhaps "grouchy" is a better word, aside from the nervous physical suffering, and, with appetite gone, sleep fitful, dizzy spells and nausea frequent, life hardly seems worth living.

Tanlac seems to almost instantly check this distressing condition, and to restore a healthy, normal appetite, brings good, restful sleep, and banishes that tired, nervous feeling—in short, it restores the stomach to the habit of doing a full day's work and doing it well.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Hartford at the Ohio County Drug Co., where it is being explained daily to scores of men and women.

Tanlac may be obtained in the following nearby towns: Beaver Dam, Z. Wilbur Mitchell; Centertown, L. C. Morton & Son; McHenry, Williams Coal Co.; Ceralvo, C. R. Fulkerson; Cromwell, Wallace & Porter; Banock, Cook & Co.; Rockport, Harrell Bros.; Nelson, Nelson Creek Coal Co.; Livermore, J. F. Smith; Island, A. R. Pollock; Dundee, C. C. King; Fordsville, J. D. Cooper; Olaton, J. B. Canan.

HOG CHOLERA AND THE MANNER OF HANDLING

There is absolutely no known cure for hog cholera. There are preventives, such as vaccination by either the double treatment or the serum-alone method, either of which is good. The simultaneous or double treatment produces immunity from the disease for life. The serum alone or the single treatment produces immunity for not more than three months. The keeping of hogs in a healthy condition is one of the best preventives unless they come in contact with a contaminated stream or a cholera carcass, or the disease is carried to them by birds, men or dogs.

The bodies of all hogs that die with any disease from any cause should be burned or buried—burning is better. The United States Department of Agriculture spends many thousands of dollars each year in the control of hog cholera and it makes it very hard to control the disease when conditions are as bad as they are in some counties.

Section 62 of the Kentucky Statutes reads as follows:

"If the owner of any distempered cattle or hogs diseased with hog cholera shall permit them to run at large outside of his own inclosure or shall drive the same into or through any part of this Commonwealth, unless it be from one portion of his own inclosure to another, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for each head, and be liable by civil action for any damage that may occur by the spreading of the disease; and when any such cattle or hogs shall die, the owner thereof shall cause them to be burned or buried, and if he fail, he shall be fined five dollars for each offense."

Shoots Wife and Self.

Carlisle, Ky., March 31.—Following a quarrel at their home here, Guy Linville, 35 years old, a painter, shot and instantly killed his wife, Mollie Linville, and then turned the weapon upon himself. Linville probably will die. The bullet which struck Mrs. Linville pierced her heart. Linville shot himself through the stomach. Anticipating his own death he gave a statement to the police in which he claimed his wife had threatened to leave him.

Kenosha, Wis., March 24.—Two thousand employees of a big automobile company were leaving the plant last evening when a foreman came rushing after them.

"Come o nback boys. Uncle Sam has put in a rush order for motor trucks," he said.

Accordingly the plant was a blaze of lights last night and the twenty-seven trucks ordered were put on a train for El Paso early to-day.

FAMOUS BATTLES WON BY INFERIOR FORCES

How Some Struggles Of Other Days Were Fought Under Fearful Odds.

The victory of Gideon's 300 over 120,000 Midianites, and the activities of Sampson with that jawbone, related in the Book of Judges, are fair indications that the Lord is not always on the side of the big battalions. Profane history affords many instances of long odds. Ten thousand Greeks routed 120,000 Persians at Marathon, and 300 brave Spartans died while defending the pass of Thermopylae against 1,500,000 (more or less) other brave Persians during the famous invasion of Greece by Xerxes.

The Scots have one to their credit over England when in 1314 Robert Bruce and 30,000 of his countrymen routed 100,000 of their southern neighbors.

At Crecy in 1346, 30,000 English proved too many for 100,000 French, and some years later at Poitiers the Black Prince, with 12,000 men, disposed of the King of France and five times that number principally by the prowess of his archers.

Three hundred and fifty Irishmen held the Shannon bridge at Athlone against 18,000 English, Dutch and Germans in 1691. Two hundred of their number fell, but the bridge was destroyed before the others drew off.

Charles XII. of Sweden, with 9,000 men, defeated an army of 60,000 Russians at Narva.

As might be expected in the wars between civilization and barbarism or semi-barbarism, the victory was generally won by the former against fearful odds.

If the Spanish chroniclers are to be believed Cortez defeated 200,000 Aztecs in the battle of Otumba after he evacuated Mexico City, or, as it was then called, Tenochtitlan. On this occasion he could scarcely have mustered 200 Spaniards.

In India the British have had their own share in this kind of warfare. Robert Clive, with 3,000 men, defeated Surajah Dowlah's army of 50,000 at Plassey in 1751, and Sir Robert Napier tackled 30,000 Beloochees at Meaneet with 2,800 men.

The longest odds in any modern battle were faced, however, by Garibaldi when at the battle of Marsala in 1859, with 1,000 "red shirts," he attacked and defeated 50,000 Austrians.

INTERURBAN MOTOR CAR SYSTEM IS PLANNED

The Owensboro Inquirer says: That Owensboro will within a short time be the center of an interurban motor car system was a fact presented as one of the important developments of a meeting of the Owensboro Rotary Club that was crowded with business. It was automobile day at the club and O. C. Williams of the Owensboro Motor car company used the occasion to announce the plan which he has perfected and expects to inaugurate within the next week.

Preceding Mr. Williams' announcement, he, as chairman of the day, introduced a representative of the Studebaker corporation, who entertained and instructed the club with a talk on the commercial motor truck, followed by J. C. Shenkel, of Huntington, Ind., who operates an interurban motor car system in his territory. Mr. Shenkel enthused the Owensboro merchants who heard him, with the idea of the good that such a system does for a city and read letters from business men of his city sustaining all that he said. He declared that the motor car lines, about a dozen of them, meant more to his town than interurban electric cars.

Mr. Williams and Mr. A. Bresler, of the Motor Car company, then outlined the plan under which they expect to operate a system out of Owensboro. It is contemplated to run lines from Owensboro to Hartford, Madisonville, Henderson, Lewisport, Calhoun, Livermore, West Louisville and way points on all lines. The first line will be to Hartford and will be started, Mr. Williams expects, within a week. The others will be added as rapidly as cars can be secured and men that are competent to operate them and conduct the business can be secured.

The Hartford Herald has adopted a new rule in regard to Obituaries, Resolutions of Respect, Cards of Thanks, &c., whether written personally or for lodges, churches or individuals, and that is, we shall charge at the rate of five cents per line for all such articles, except obituary poetry, which will be one cent per word straight.

The amount, in cash or stamps, must accompany each article, or it will not be printed. Six words average a line in ordinary reading and every separate character or initial letter counts as a word. The heading and the signature both count one line each, even if they are only a word or two. All obituary poetry, straight through, one cent per word. This ruling applies to everybody alike, without any distinction.

FORMER INDIAN FOES GOING TO AID FUNSTON

Aged Apache Chiefs To Act as Scouts and Guides in Familiar Country.

Washington, March 31.—A dozen Indian chiefs from Arizona are to be enlisted as scouts for the American columns in Mexico.

Major-General Funston has asked for the services of the warriors and Major-General Scott, Chief of Staff, to-day authorized their employment.

The Indian chiefs not only are familiar with the Mexican country through which the American troops are pursuing Villa and his bandits, but long ago demonstrated their mastery of the art of guerrilla warfare to the troops they now will aid.

The Indian scouts, who will be sent to aid General Pershing, are men of advanced years and who fought with Geronimo, the Apache chief, whose flight into Mexico led to the last expedition across the border by American troops. There are a number of the old warriors at San Carlos, agency, New Mexico, and Port Apache, Arizona, who were in Geronimo's band and surrendered with him to General Lawton in 1886.

General Scott is personally acquainted with many of these and believes it will be possible to find a few who are physically capable of taking the trail despite their years. As hunted men they learned every trail of the country where the Villa bandits are seeking refuge.

The Apache are not now enlisted as scouts, although a number of Seminoles at Fort Clark, Texas, are serving the Government. The Seminoles, however, are youths compared to the old Apache warriors, and have neither the knowledge nor experience upon which General Pershing could rely.

Time Brings Changes.

San Francisco, March 31.—General Pershing, as a young Lieutenant just out of West Point, fought against the very men who are now to lead him over the same trail he pursued them at that time. It was in campaigning against Geronimo's band that General Pershing first learned the ways of Indian and guerrilla warfare.

He was assigned in 1886, a few months after his graduation from West Point, as a Second Lieutenant in the Sixth Cavalry, then engaged in the Indian campaign in the Southwest.

He was there for several years, and gave evidence of the distinction to come later, when he applied the lessons he learned fighting the Indians to his tasks in the Philippines.

GASOLINE FROM SHALE —SCOTLAND'S PRODUCTION

It is estimated by the United States Geological Survey that in Colorado alone there is sufficient shale, in beds three feet or more thick, to yield 20,000,000,000 barrels of crude oil, from which at least 2,000,000,000 barrels of gasoline may be extracted by ordinary refining processes.

Little attention has been paid to this shale because the quantity of petroleum produced from wells in the United States has been sufficient to satisfy all demands, but for more than 50 years the oil shale industry of Scotland has been a very important one. In a recent year more than 8,000 men were employed in the industry in that country, yet the average yield of oil per ton of shale was much less than that which appears possible from the shale of Colorado and Utah.

The area that has been studied by the Geological Survey comprises Northwestern Colorado, Northeastern Utah and Southwestern Wyoming. The shale found there contains materials which, when heated, may be converted into crude oil, gas and ammonia. Sooner or later this great source of supply will be utilized to supplement the decreasing production from the regular oil fields.

When refined by ordinary methods the shale oil yields an average of about 10 per cent gasoline, 35 per cent kerosene and a large amount of paraffin.—[New York Journal of Commerce.]

RACE WITH FAST TRAIN SAVES LIFE OF A CHILD

Steubenville, Ohio, March 31.—In a race with a fast passenger train here to-day P. J. Mullen, 47 years old, Pan Handle Railroad conductor, won, and saved the life of six-year-old Martha Wulinski. Mullen, 50 feet away, saw a westbound flyer bearing down on the child, who was interested in an eastbound freight. He beat the train to the spot and by a fraction of a minute, snatched the girl in his arms and was just grazed by the engine as he cleared the tracks.

Citizens who witnessed the heroic act say they will apply for a Carnegie hero medal for Mullen.

Obedient Orders.

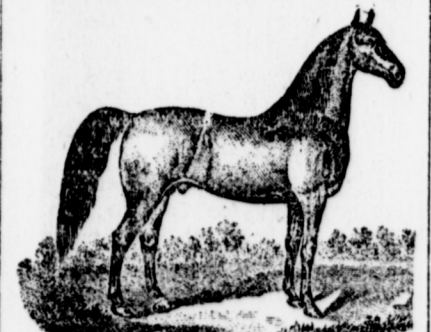

The foreman swore at Cassidy for not fully loading up his hod. The hod, he said, would hold so many bricks, and Cassidy must take a full load up the ladder every trip.

One morning the supply of bricks ran out, and Cassidy, after gathering every brick in sight, found he was still short of the proper number. He yelled up to a workman at the fifth story.

"What do you want?" asked the workman.

"Throw me down wan brick," shouted Cassidy, "to make me load."

Mr. Breeder—I have one question to ask. If you had two neighbors, and each had a 200-lb. hog of the same breed for sale, one you could buy for $5.00, the other for $10.00, which would you take? You have before you a proposition of the same nature. So ask yourself "Where Shall I Breed?"

BEAVER DAM.

April 3.—The Baptist Ladies Missionary Society had an all-day meeting last Wednesday in the interest of missionary work. Mrs. Hinkle, of Louisville, and Miss Wilson, field worker, of Bardonia, were present and gave lectures for the benefit of the society. Also Dr. and Mrs. McLean, missionaries from Saki, Africa, were present. Mrs. McLean lectured in the afternoon in regard to their work in that foreign land. The Doctor lectured at night and exhibited quite a number of relics, such things as idols and gourds that were grown in Africa. He explained among other things the mode of idol worship in that country.

Quite an interesting basket ball game was played at the opera house Saturday night. Our boys played the Mi-mo-mus champions of the Louisville Church League. After a hard contest the W. K. S. team were winners by 40 to 33. Both teams played a clever, nice game and all were well pleased with the result.

Miss Lucy Hunt, of Rochester, was the guest of Misses Geneva Taylor and Ella McKinney Saturday and Sunday.

Messrs. Taylor & Bean shipped a carload of cattle last week. Ten of the steers were purchased from Mr. Berry Rial, living a few miles north of town. They were the fattest cattle that had been brought to town this season.

Messrs. Arbuckle & Maddox also shipped a carload of poultry last week. They paid 14½c per pound for chickens.

Mr. G. D. Young is building an addition to his printing office. Mr. Young is one of the most successful business men of our town.

Mr. Geo. Trout, who has been in Oklahoma in search of a home, has returned and old Kentucky looks better than ever to him.

SULPHUR SPRINGS.

April 3.—Business of all kinds very dull in this section. Farmers getting along very slow with spring work.

Mollyhorn & Sons, who have their mill on the Bessie Fitzhugh land, are very near done cutting the timber. They will move in a short time but don't know just where they will go, but will go where Bond Bros. buy the next bunch of timber.

Willis Heflin has bought the Holbrook land near Jingo and has a crew of men cutting the timber and Chinn Bros. are sawing it into lumber and railroad ties.

Arnett Miller and Chester Gans left yesterday for Canaan, Mo., to work in timber. Quite a number of our young men and boys have gone to Illinois and Missouri this spring, hunting a soft job and a fortune. Some of them failed to find either and have come back to their old jobs.

BARRETT'S FERRY.

April 3.—Mr. Moses R. Glenn, State Superintendent of Printing, has returned to Frankfort after spending two days with Mr. J. P. Lloyd and family. His wife and son will visit several days longer.

Rev. W. H. Foreman and wife, of Hartford, have returned home after visiting relatives in this community. L. G. Barrett, who has been suffering from pharyngitis, is well again.

The stork visited the home of Mr. Jake Smith last Friday and left a fine 8½-lb. girl.

Mr. Bernice Neighbors and wife will leave to-morrow for Montana, where they will make their future home.

DUNDEE.

April 3.—There has been some real estate trading here of late. Mr. Melvin Westerfield sold his nice farm between here and Narrows to Mr. Tom Whitehouse. Mr. Westerfield has bought Mrs. Mollie Murphy's house here and moved into it. Mr. John A. Edge, of Adaburg, has bought Roy Coppage's house and property here and moved to same. Mr. Coppage moved back to his farm near here. Mr. Dowell has moved to the St. Clair property near the depot.

Dr. J. A. Duff is having a new barn built near his residence.

Renfrow & Dean have added to their large flouring mill a big boiler and engine.

Little Mary Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Duke, fell off a horse last Saturday and bruised her face very badly. She was out riding with some other little girls.

It seems like lots of people around here are just now taking the grippe. Plowing has been the order of last week. Lots of fields had 3 to 4 teams going.

Corn and hay are both getting scarce on account of the long winter.

BENNETT'S.

April 3.—The party given at Mr. Jeff Pickersel's Saturday night was much enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maples and son Cecil are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Stewart, of Central Grove.

Miss Mattie McSherry and Misses Ethel and Lena Baize, of Beaver Dam, are visiting their cousin, Mrs. Will Brown.

Mr. Cecil Williams is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, of near Centertown.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tatum, of Simons, are visiting Mrs. Tatum's sister, Mrs. Antha Tatum.

In India and Ceylon there are now nearly 200 Young Men's Christian Associations, with 12,000 members.

Worth Careful Thought

Do you read the label to know whether your baking powder is made from cream of tartar or, on the other hand, from alum or phosphate?

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes, and adds to the food only wholesome qualities.

Other baking powders contain alum or phosphate, both of mineral origin, and used as substitutes for cream of tartar because of their cheapness.

Never sacrifice quality and healthfulness for low price.
